

1/1

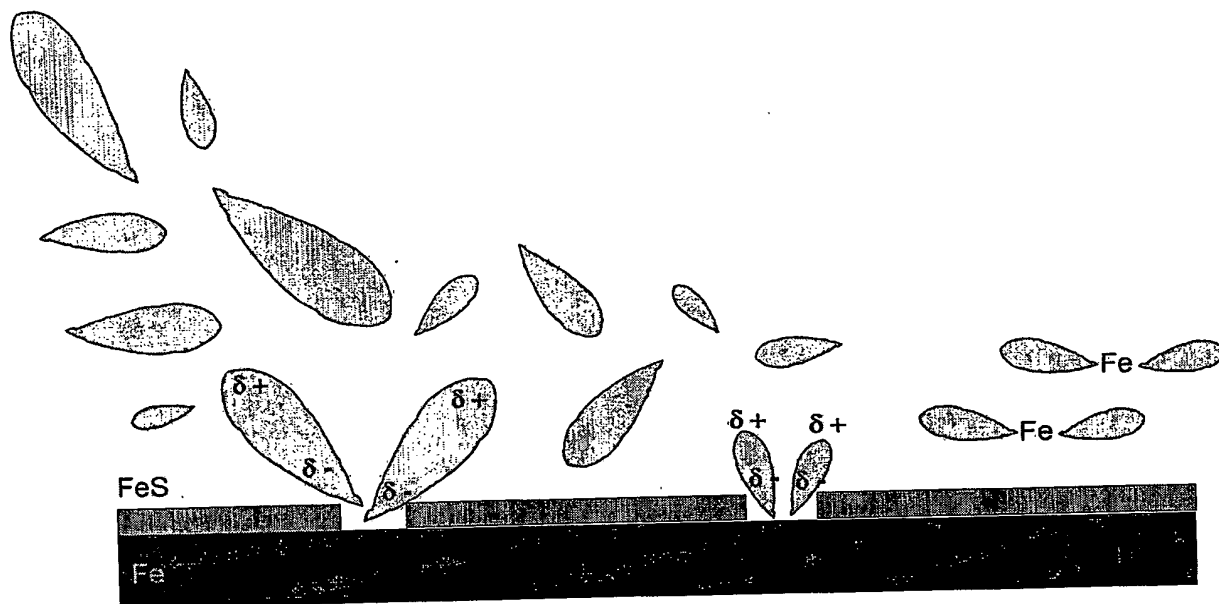

Figure 1

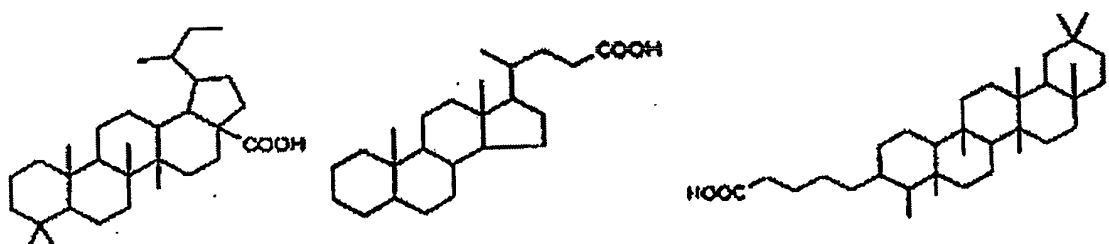

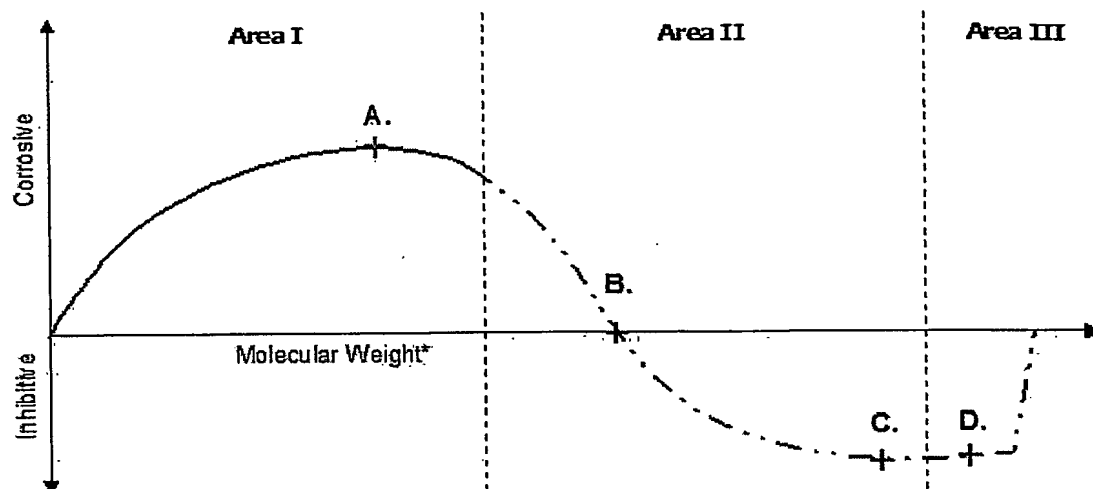

Figure 2

x-axis is a function dominated by molecular weight and structure, including factors such as reactive sulfur, velocity, phase, temperature, and pressure; y-axis is a measure of corrosivity and/or corrosion inhibition.

Figure 3